

Celebrations Speaking Activity

An activity for students to talk about celebrations

- If you have a mixed nationality class, put students into mixed nationality pairs or small groups.
- Students must find out as much as possible about celebrations in each other's countries. This should include how they celebrate weddings and birthdays, as well as other festivals or special celebrations.
- It will help to write: weddings, birthdays, festivals on the board to guide them.
- Each student should make notes to use later.
- If all your students are from the same country, they should work with someone they do not know very well and ask about how they celebrated their last birthday, if they've been to a wedding and what happened there, and any other festivals or celebrations they have attended.
- Each student should report back to the class with something interesting they have learned.
